AREA CHURCHES PARTNER ON HABITAT HOME BUILD

Newnan-Coweta Habitat for Humanity held its second annual "Foundations of Faith" build in the spring at 16 Melson St. in Newnan.

This build provided an opportunity for area churches to partner and pool their resources to construct a Habitat home for a deserving family who might never have owned a home otherwise.

Habitat had some 10 area churches who committed to helping in some capacity, whether through tithing, providing labor and devotions, or donating lunches. Some churches opted to help with all areas.

A ground-breaking ceremony held prior to the event was, according to Executive Director Leslie Merriman, "just an opportunity to bless the build and the property and the public for the continuing success at eliminating poverty housing and homelessness in our community."

Newnan-Coweta Habitat for Humanity held a groundbreaking service for the second annual Foundations of Faith build at 16 Melson St. Participants included, from left, Faith Patton of Newnan First United Methodist Church, Tom Barron of the Habitat board, Rosemarie and James Mansour, the land donors, Pastor Dan Dahl of Resurrection Lutheran Church, Bob Teller of Newnan First United Methodist Church, Leslie Merriman, executive director of Habitat, and Jeff Merriman, pastor of South Metro Ministries.
